PRESIDENT PROCLAIMS A LIBERTY LOAN DAY

Proclamation is Issued Requesting That Patriotic Meetings be Held in Every City, Town and Hamlet in Aid of Bond Sale on Wednesday, Oct. 24.

The following proclamation has been issued by president Wilson in aid of the sale of Liberty Bonds:

The second liberty loan gives the people of the United States another opportunity to lend their funds to their government to sustain their country at war. The might of the United States is being mobilized and organized to strike a mortal blow at autocracy in defense of outraged American rights and of the cause of liberty.

Billions of dollars are required to arm, feed and clothe the brave men who are going forth to fight our country's battles and to assist the nations with whom we are making common cause against a common foe. To subscribe to the liberty loan is to perform a service of patriotism.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do appoint Wednesday, the 24th of October, as Liberty day, and urge and advise the people to assemble in their respective communities and pledge to one another and to the government that represents them the fullest measure of financial support.

On the afternoon of that day I request that patriotic meetings be held in every city, town and hamlet throughout the land, under the general direction of the Secretary of the Treasury and the immediate direction of the liberty loan committees which have been organized by the Federal reserve banks.

The people responded nobly to the call of the first liberty loan with an oversubscription of more than 50 per cent. Let the response to the second loan be even greater and let the amount be so large that it will serve as an assurance of unequaled support to hearten the men who are to face the fire of battle for us. Let the result be so impressive and emphatic that it will echo throughout the empire of our enemy as an index of what America intends to do to bring this war to a victorious conclusion.

For the purpose of particpating in Liberty day celebrations all employes of the Federal government throughout the country whose service can be spared may be excused at 12 o'clock, Wednesday the 24th of October.

In Witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done in the District of Columbia this twelfth day of October, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundrd and forty-second.

RAID ANOTHER TRAIN.

Armed With Search Warrant, Sleuths Seize Liquor—No Arrests.

That federal officers will continue their search of trains entering the state pursuant to enforcement of the bone dry law, but will proceed on search warrants, was shown Saturday when they went through a train at Elba station Richmond. Several suitcases of liquor were seized by the officers.

None of the passengers was put to any inconvenience, it is stated, but their baggage was given an overhauling. The officers, following considerable confusion and objections by the railroad company, which attended previous raids, this time swore out a search warrant before United States Commissioner Flegenheimer on information received.

No one was arrested because no one would claim the liquor, which consisted of several hundred pints. It was said that no orders had been received by the secret service men or any of the department of justice officers that a search warrant must be used. The secret service men decided that to avoid confusion it was better to obtain a warrant for the whole train and make a complete search, which they did.

At the headquarters of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad no information regarding the raid had been received Saturday afternoon since no passengers had entered complaints, and unless formal complaints are issued the company can take no action. As the result of the first raid, the office of the attorney general of the United States is considering the propriety of federal agents raiding trains under certain conditions.—Richmond Journal.

THREE SONS SOLDIERS.

Fourth Son of New York Woman Confined In Alexandria Jail.

From New York a woman sends a letter to "Governor C. A. Swanson," asking that her son, now detained in prison at Alexandria for a minor offense, be set free and sent home. She says that she has four sons, three of them being now in the service of the country, and that this fourth son, in poor health, has been twice rejected for military duty. He came South and was soon out of funds and was then arrested, she says. She says that she prefers to see all of them die on the field in defense of the country to having one of them in jail. She failed to give the name of the boy and did not state the nature of his offense. The matter will be investigated by the officers.

FIGHTS OFF A NEGRO.

Fourteen Year Old Helen Stutts, of Rosslyn, Va., Saves Herself From His Attack.

Miss Helen Stutts, the 14 year old daughter of J. Stutts, captain of the guard at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Washington, bravely fought off a negro a few days ago, when he seized her and tried to drag her into the woods in Alexandria county. The story of the attempted assault was made public yesterday, it having been kept quiet with the hope of capturing the negro.

Miss Stutts was going to her home near Rosslyn about 4 o'clock, when she saw the negro following her. She quickened her pace, but he overtook her, grabbed her by the throat and tried to drag her into the woods. The girl fought, screamed and resisted until an automobile was heard in the distance when the negro disappeared into the woods.

The girl's father and Sheriff Fields, of Alexandria county have searched the countryside for the negro, but have not been able to find a man answering the description given by Miss Stutts.

This is the third attempt of negroes to assault white women in Alexandria county during the past two months.

STORAGE INCREASES.

Eighty Per Cent. More Beef in Stock Than One Year Ago.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Eighty per cent. more frozen beef was in stock on October 1 than a year ago. Reports from 293 storages to the Bureau of Markets, made public, showed holdings of 137,806,561 pounds. Stocks of cured beef amounted to 32,644,559 pounds on the same date, an increase of 46.4 per cent., while a decrease of 3.6 per cent. in the amount of lamb and mutton in storage was shown, the stock totaling 3,221,234 pounds. Small decreases also were reported for dry salt and pickled pork and lard, but frozen pork increased 12 per cent.

STRIKE IN HIGH SCHOOL

Most of Four-Year Graduates Leave Building This Morning After Stating Grievances.

City Superintendent of schools W. H. Sweeney went to the high school building about ten o'clock this morning for the purpose of introducing the new teachers. C. T. Ryan, teacher of English in the High School, it will be remembered, sent his resignation to the City School Board last Thursday night and it was accepted. On Saturday night the pupils met for the purpose of bidding him farewell. Superintendent Sweeney who had been invited, announced that the school would be opened this morning as usual.

A recess was declared at 10:30 this morning, and after the expiration of this intermission it was noticed that only three pupils out of twenty-six of the four-year grades re-entered the building. It was surmised that the absentees had taken umbrage at something that had been done by the school officials, and upon looking about the room the following was found upon one of the desks:

We want a better faculty, and not the cheap teachers that you brag upon being able to obtain.

We want a chemical laboratory, as we are unable to get credit for chemistry on entering college.

We want a chance in our school, and not be compelled to go outside to seek entertainment.

We want a DECENT School Board.

Later in the morning the "strikers" gathered around the building and hooted, when two policemen appeared and dispersed them.

The youngsters it is stated, will not be readmitted to the school by the City Superintendent.

The third paragraph in the above is significant. It evidently refers to the action of the School Board in forbidding the use of the auditorium at the High school building for dancing purposes.

After leaving the school building the crowd of scholars, numbering about sixty-five or more, came down King street. Two of them who were marching at the head of the bunch carried a large placard, which they held up in the air, on which were printed the words: "We want a Decent School Board." Much shouting was done by them apparently for the purpose of attracting the attention of the people.

On their return back up the street they entered the Richmond theater for the purpose of holding a meeting but were not allowed to, it is stated.

WILL ENFORCE DOG LAW

Mayor Fisher Directs Chief of Police To Take Immediate Measures to Compel Owners to Procure License.

About four years ago, when a mad dog scare started in Virginia, and after several persons had been bitten by suspicious curs in Rosemont, the City Council passed an ordinance providing that all dogs allowed to run at large in this city should be muzzled. During the year 1913 a number of owners of dogs who neglected to muzzle the curs or defied the law were reported by the police and fined. Others who had neglected to procure licenses were made to pay the penalty. But few delinquents have been reported of late, and Mayor Fisher, as will be seen below, is determined to have the law enforced. While the law compelling owners to muzzle dogs is more honored in its breach than its observance, many owners of canines seem disposed to treat the license law with contempt also the following are Mayor's Fisher's instruction to Chief Goods:

Office of the Mayor, October 13, 1917.

Charles T. Goods, Chief of Police.
Sir:

On September 22nd., last I notified by publication in the Alexandria Gazette those who owned or harbored dogs, that they would have until October 5th, 1917 to come forward and pay the license on same, as after that date drastic measures would be used to apprehend and punish delinquents. During the time which has elapsed since that notice only thirty-five (35) license have been issued. The total number issued to date being 495. Ten years ago there was issued in the old corporation limits 740 to 750 each year, and last year, although many escaped, 680 license were issued. I recognize that there is some difficulty in reaching those who persistently evade this tax, but the hundreds, by comparative figures which I have mentioned indicate a large number of slackers or a great reduction in dogs.

Section 2 of the General license lay 1917-18 reads as follows:

Section two "That no person shall own, keep or harbor a dog within the City of Alexandria during the year commencing on the 1st., day of June 1917, and ending on the 31st day of May 1918, without first obtaining a license and pay the tax imposed thereupon of One Dollar and Fifty Cents $1.50 for each dog so owned, kept or harbored, under a penalty of a fine of not less than two dollar ($2.00), nor more than five dollars ($5.00) and each day's failure to obtain said license and pay the said tax imposed thereon shall constitute a separate violation of this Section."

You will see that the minimum or maximum fine is discretionary with the Police Justice, and the fine does not relieve the delinquent from the payment of the license. You will inform the Sergeants and the privates of the Police Force to serve warrants upon all offenders to appear in the Police Court, as requests and suggestions are not noticed and appear ineffectual.

I have communicated at length. Post this letter in Police Headquarters and call those subject to your orders attention to it. It is to be construed as an order.

THOMAS A. FISHER, Mayor.

ARREST OF AUTOISTS

Men in the Car Carried Pistols and a Blackjack Was Found in the Machine.

On Saturday last U. Baker, an automobile mechanic of the city, was in Accotink, Fairfax counay, a short distance south of Alexandria when two men having charge of a large automobile came along. The engine of the auto had become deranged and the men asked Baker to telephone to Alexandria for a machinist to make repairs. Baker told the men he repaired automobiles, and they engaged him to do the work. According to Baker, as soon as the car was in a condition to proceed the occupants started it without paying for his services, and the strangers were soon speeding north. Baker telephoned to Alexandria, asking the police to stop the car until he reach the city.

Sergeant Scott and Officer Kerns repaired to the Roat's blacksmith shop, at Franklin and Patrick streets, and awaited the coming of the automobile. They placed wire across the road in order to stop the machine. They did not wait long before the auto was seen coming on north on what is now Patrick street extended. The auto was brought to a stop, and the officers having stated why they stopped the machine, asked certain questions of the strangers. They failed to give satisfactory answers, and the sergeant and officer having taken their seats in the car, ordered the men to proceed to the station house. Upon reaching police headquarters the men were searched and pistols were found upon both. Upon searching the car a blackjack was found.

The men gave their names as Bernard Holt and Bernard Brinkley. They said they were from Alabama. The officers telegraphed to the point in Alabama indicated by the two men, when it was learned that the license of that state belonged to an Overland car. The car which contained Holt and Brinkley is a seven-seat Packard, and bears the imprint of the Montreal, Canada, Automobile Association.

The men are being held pending further investigation.

SHIPYARD TO BE SOLD

Old Landmark on River Front Between Gibbon and Franklin Street Will Soon Change Hands.

In the Circuit Court for the city last week in the case of Mary V. Agnew, administratrix., vs. Marine Railway and Coal Co., Inc. et als., a decree was entered appointing John M. Johnson, Gardner L. Boothe, Harry B. Caton and Douglass Stuart, special commissioners of sale, to sell the property and plant of the Marine Railway and Coal Company, at either public or private sale.

Until the sale and confirmation of said plant, Harry B. Caton is appointed receiver of said plant and all assets.

The matter is referred to G. Washington Lewis, commissioner in chancery of the Circuit Court, who shall make report as to the real and personal property held by said Corporation, its debts, etc.

It has been reported during the past few months that capitalists from other cities have had their eyes on the Alexandria shipyard, and that it is the desire of the would-be owners to greatly improve its facilities, which they will take contracts for the construction of boats for the United States. This, so far, has been handicapped by the property being in litigation. The court having ordered a sale of the plant, many speculations are in the air as its future history.

The Marine Railway and Coal Company has for many years had charge of the property. The origin of the railway goes back probably for three fourths of a century, it having been constructed by a company shortly before Alexandria passed from the jurisdiction of the District of Columbia to Virginia. It was leased many years ago by the late Henry Thompson and Nathaniel Goodhand. It was then known as the "lower shipyard" to distinguish it from that operated by the late Robert Hunter at the foot of Wilkes street. Mr. Thompson died in 1360 and Mr. Goodhand a few years later, or shortly after the close of the civil war, and in 1873 another company was formed which purchased the property and improved it by constructing new ways, etc. Several large schooners were built there in the years that followed.

The purchase of the shipyard by capitalists and its utilization as a construction point for the government will add immeasurably to the commercial importance of Alexandria.

WOMAN KILLED IN CRASH.

Former Alexandria Woman Killed Yesterday in Automobile Accident Near Baltimore.

When the automobile in which Mrs. Minnie Kaiser, 30 years old, of 637 E street southeast, Washington, turned turtle early yesterday morning on the Washington road about 15 miles from Baltimore, she sustained injuries which resulted in her death yesterday afternoon. The machine contained Mrs. Kaiser, her son Spencer, her daughter, Marguerite, Carl Wilkenson, the chauffeur, Albert Durand, and William Sullivan, all of Washington, D. C., were on their way home when the car skidded and overturned. All of the occupants were thrown out, Mrs. Kaiser being pinned under the machine. An auto truck of the C. and P. Telephone Company was secured and the injured rushed to the Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where it was found that Mrs. Kaiser had sustained a fractured spine and internal injuries.

Dr. J. Knox Insley, coroner of the Northeastern District, yesterday refused to permit the removal of Mrs. Kaiser's body to Washington. He will hold an investigation today.

Mrs. Kaiser was a native of Alexandria. She was a daughter of the late Capt. Pitt Forrest, a well known steamboat man of by-gone days, and resided at the corner of Queen and Royal streets. Besides her husband and children, she is survived by a mother, Mrs. Pitt Forrest, and a sister, Mrs. William Raynor, of Washington, D. C., and a brother, Mr. Spencer Forrest, of this city. Mrs. Kaiser at one time taught a private school in this city.

She was a member of Mt. Vernon Council, No. 1, Daughters of America, of this city.

NEARLY 3,000 IN LINE

The Annual Sunday School Parade Brings Out Large Crowds in City Yesterday Afternoon.

The Sabbath schools of the city of Alexandria and its suburbs made a highly creditable showing in the annual parade given by them yesterday afternoon. The weather conditions were ideal and large crowds of people were out to see the hundreds of teachers and scholars in line.

The procession started shortly after three o'clock from Prince street and proceeded over the route as previously announced, led by a platoon of police in charge of chief marshal Chas E. Pierpoint and Sergt. Wilmer Scott. Following them came the Twelfth Field Artillery band of the St. Asaph Military camp and the schools. Each of the schools was designated by a different color and many of the scholars carried United States flags as well which lent additional beauty to the scene. Larger flags borne by the men were interspersed through the column which helped to give it a patriotic character which was also good to see as well as other banners with scriptural quotations. The Indian Guard band assisted in furnishing music at the head of Christ Episcopal Sunday school.

First honors for the number in line was claimed by the First Baptist Sunday school which had a total of 605, while the Methodist Episcopal church South came next with 602. This showed an increase of 102 over last year for the Baptist school and 113 for the Methodists.

The other schools, in point of numbers, were as follows: Christ Episcopal, 271; Second Presbyterian, 200; Methodist Protestant, 181; St. Paul's P. E., 175; Second Baptist, 171; Trinity M. E., 168; Grace P. E., 142; Del Ray Methodist, 70; Payne Street Presbyterian Mission, 68; Del Ray Baptist, 60.

The procession was made up in the following order: Platoon of police; flags of the United States, of the State of Virginia and church flags, followed by the Twelfth Artillery band, Del Ray Methodist Episcopal South, Del Ray Baptists, Grace P. E., Methodist Protestant, Second Presbyterian, the latter cartwenty-eight of its members had responded to the call to the colors, Payne Street Presbyterian Mission, rying a banner setting forth that First Baptist and Baraca Bible Class, Indian Guard band leading Immanuel Bible Class of Christ P. E., and M. E. South, Wesley Bible Class of the M. E. South, Second Baptist, Trinity M. E., and St. Paul's Episcopal.

The total number in line, by actual count, of scholars and teachers, was 2,813, although it is stated that nearly a hundred more joined in the parade after the count had been made.

At the close of the parade mass meetings were held in the First Baptist, St. Paul's Episcopal and Trinity Methodist Churches at which the Rev. H. J. Stewart, Rev. Dr. E. K. Hardin and H. S. Omohundro, of Washington, gave addresses.

Among the striking bodies of men in the parade was the Baraca Bible class of the First Baptist church which had 142 members in line. Each one wore a patriotic hat and carried an umbrella bearing the National colors of red, white and blue.

Rev. Charles Chance, a country preacher, was convicted by a jury in Colquitt county, Ga., superior court for attempted assault on a 14 year old girl, and immediately sentenced by Judge Thomas to serve sixteen years in the penitentiary.

OUTDOOR RALLY DAY.

As had been anticipated, the Sunday School parade yesterday afternoon exceeded the expectations of those who had arranged it. The weather was ideal and the larger portion of the city's population was on the streets reviewing the schools. Many visitors were in the city, most of whom came here for the purpose of witnessing the turnout.

Sunday School rally days are generally held in the respective churches. Under the present regime these yearly gatherings are held in the open in the early fall. Virtually all Protestant Sunday schools vie in making the occasion a gala day.

In by-gone years religious parades were pleasant features in cities of continental Europe. On such occasions a general holiday was proclaimed and nearly every inhabitant turned out to swell the number in line. Light refreshments were furnished gratis to every one and the best of humor prevailed among all classes. Some Alexandrians who had read or witnessed such celebrations in Oporto and other Portuguese cities saw the scenes brought to mind by yesterday's procession. As might have been expected, the younger generation was in the majority yesterday, which brought home to all the words of the Saviour—"Suffer the little ones to come unto me and forbid them not."

But adults of both sexes also formed a large percentage of the paraders, and it was refreshing to see the many men—old and young—who were in line.

During the past few years Bible classes, composed of men and women have been formed in the various churches, and the Scriptures are being studied more closely at present in Alexandria than for many years past. This is as it should be, and those who watched yesterday's procession sincerely hope that many more of the adult class will be found in these processions next year.

There may be some, minus spirituality, who are to be inclined to sneer at those who are endeavoring to lead sincere lives. Our Lord did not say "Blessed is every perfect man," "Blessed are they who hunger and thirst after righteousness." In other words, He blesses our endeavors.

About a third of a century ago a union meeting was held in one of our city churches, and a resident minister was called upon to say something for the edification or instruction of those present. He began his remarks by saying: "Brethren, I thank God that I am here and not in some worse place. I realize that I am capable of committing overt acts, as well as others. I repeat I am thankful I am here among disciples of Jesus Christ."

There is a volume in these few words, and they are encouraging to all who are journeying from the City of Destruction to the heavenly home.

LIBEL ON EARLY CHRISTIANS.

That there are many misfits in the Christian ministry has ever been apparent. Simon Magus was anxious to be invested with Apostolic power, occasionally we read sentiments from preachers of the Gospel which are calculated to cause the angels to weep. The following will be read with righteous indignation by every sincere follower of the Man of Galilee:

Industrial Workers of the World were compared to the early Christians, were extolled as not being one-tenth bad men and ministers of the Congregational Church were enjoined to lend succor to them in an address here this afternoon by the Rev. Sydney Strong, of Seattle, Wash. He spoke to delegates of the National Council of Congregational Churches of the United States in session here.

Mr. Strong told of his intimate acquaintance with a large number of I. W. W.'s of visitations he had made to their members in prisons and generally of an admiration they commanded in him.

"Their leaders are men of beautiful countenance," he said. "They believe in a beautiful philosophy of non-resistance, and are bound to a cause they think is right. They are idealists and they have a remarkable solidarity of purpose. Their organization is open to all alike."

Distribution of wealth in this country was deplored by Mr. Strong. In 40 American cities, he said, it has been found 2 per cent of the people control 60 per cent of the wealth. Mr. Strong said democracy in industry, as well as in government, must come after the closing of the present war.

YOUNG GIRLS' PERILS.

Washington teems with peril for young girls—and their mothers are very largely to blame.

This is the belief of Mrs. Sarah V. Farling, Washington's first and city policewoman, after a searching investigation of dance halls, "movies," and various resorts, lasting more than a year, and detailed to a representative of the Washington Times.

According to Mrs. Farling, a majority of the girls who yield to the "lure o' the night" are not more than fourteen years old—fifteen at best. And while she blames their mothers, to a large extent, she does not, for one moment, think their crime (for such she characterizes it) is intentional. She attributes it, rather, to overconfidence and a sublimated indifference. Mr. Farling, continuing, said:

"I want them to go to their little dances and to the movies, but I want them to go home at a reasonable hour, and I don't want them to dance with men they meet in the dance hall and have never seen before.

"I saw two sisters come in one night. One was fourteen and the other sixteen. At first they danced together. Boys without partners spotted them. Soon each danced with three different men—men they had never seen before. They lived in Alexandria. Their mother had allowed them to come to the city alone and return anyhow they could.

"That mother resented my interference. She informed me her daughters were quite capable of taking care of themselves."

Wants a Suggestion.

Patriots Corners, Va., Oct. 15, 1917.
Mr. Editor:

The members of the Liberty Loan Committee down here at the Corners wanted me to write and ask if you could suggest a way by which we could get some of the people here who ought to buy Liberty bonds, but don't, to do their duty.

Notwithstanding the fact that a company of our boys have volunteered and have enlisted in Uncle Sam's army from this place and have thereby offered their lives to their country, on the other hand we have men here who have not offered a single dollar with which to buy a bond in response to the government's appeals. And yet these same merchants and business men have been making money here for years, and all that time have enjoyed the protection of the government they now refuse to help in time of need. Several of them, by the way, are said to be worth thousands of dollars each, which has been made here in town and sent away for investment in another city, outside the state. They are some, whom, it appears, will have to be shamed into doing their duty as American citizens if such a thing is possible. And there are others, with German names, whose loyalty to the United States is questioned because they have not done their duty excepting by hot-air talk. This is a time, you know, when money speaks louder than mere words.

It has been suggested that two things be done here in order that certain men be placed where they rightfully belong. First, to have a Liberty Loan census taken of the place and find out who have bought bonds and the names of those who have not purchased any. The names are then to be published. Next, two clubs will be organized. One will be called "Uncle Sam's Patriots" and the other "Kaiser Bill's Helpers." After the census of the town has been taken the name of every man who refuses to buy a bond, without a just and sufficint reason, will be enrolled in "Kaiser Bill's Helpers" club, for the reason that every man who does not buy a bond, if he can, is helping the Kaiser instead of Uncle Sam.

And then they are going farther. They propose to do their trading with business men who prove themselves to be real American patriots and not Kaiser Bill sympathizers.

In other words, to be brief, it promises to become extremely intreating here for a certain class during the time betwen now and the end of the war unless they find occasion to change their attitude concerning bonds.

You know the government is not asking them to give it anything, but simply to loan it money which will be amply secured and draw good interest.

If you can suggest anything more effective our committee will be mighty glad to hear from you.

Yours truly,
Ezra Tompkins, Esq.

PEACE PARTY UNDAUNTED.

Fight for German Parliamentary Recognition Grows.

Berlin, Oct. 15.—Mathias Erzberger, leader of the Centrist party in the Reichstag, which has demanded greater deference to that body from the Government says that the developments of the last week would not interfere with the majority parties' peace attitude, as based on the the resolution of July 19, or in any way retard the movement for parliamentarization.

If anything, he asserted, the latter would be more likely to be accelerated as the result of the Government's predicament growing out of the events at Tuesday's session of the Reichstag.

Herr Erzberger asserted that the majority bloc, which is now made up of Socialists, Centrists and Progressives, continues to present itself in a solid phalanx behind the issues for which it stands, and that it is not improbable it will be augmented by substantial support from the National Liberals in connection with some of the more pertinent issues growing out of the present situation. Even without that support the coalition would have an ample working majority.

The fact that the Centrists and Progressives did not join the Socialists in the vote on the resolution of censure, and that the Far Left party declined to support the measure creating the post of vice-chancellor, does not signify an absence of complete concord among the coalition parties on the major issues, Herr Erzberger declared. In spite of the situation which is being described in the Liberal press as being more than a "latent crisis," it is not expected the Reichstag will convene before December 5, the date set at Thursday's adjournment. The Emperor is expected back October 22 from his trip to the Near East, and it is assured he will confer with the factional leaders of the Reichstag.

VIRGINIA NEWS

J. R. Brown, a well-known merchant on Saturday night was held up at the point of a pistol by a negro and robbed of $38. The highwayman has not been caught. Mr. Brown had just locked up his store when the negro sidled out of an alley and, throwing the revolver in his face, demanded his money. Brown in one pocket had a roll of $300, the contents of his cash register, while in another pocket, he had the smaller roll of bills. Thinking quickly, he handed the smallest amount. On taking the money, the negro commanded Brown to turn his back, telling him not to move until he said so. Then the highwayman hiked away and made his escape.

Ralph Herbert, eighteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Herbert, of Waverlyy, received injuries yesterday afternoon that caused his death, and his fifteen year old brother, Ramey, perhaps was fatally hurt, when an automobile in which they were driving crashed against a telegraph pole. The machine was being driven at a high rate of speed through the town at the time Ralph Herbert lost control of it and the accident occurred. It practically was demolished and both boys were thrown some distance.

CENTRAL POWERS' CONDITION.

Harvest of 1917 Will be Forty Per Cent Lower Than Normal.

London, Oct. 15.—The Press Association, from a reliable source, publishes an economic review of the condition of the central powers, in the course of which it says that as a result of a special investigation ordered by the German chancellor of the 1917 harvest, it is estimated that the yield will be 40 per cent lower than in normal years for wheat and 45 per cent lower for rye, oats and barley. The total harvest of wheat and rye amounts to 7,500,000 tons, compared to 13,000,000 tons in 1913. The shortage will be partly compensated from the Roumanian granaries.

The reviewer considers that the food situation in Germany during the coming winter will depend mainly on the results of the potato harvest. At present potatoes are being delivered with fair regularity, but should frost, lack of labor or other reason cause a shortage in potatoes, it will spell disaster.

The situation in Austria-Hungary, it is declared, is worse than in Germany.

SOLDIERS BUYING LIBERTY B

Campaign Started Among The Boys to Invest Their Money Instead of Spending it.

New York, Oct. 15.—"If the people really understood how the boys enroute to the trenches are investing their pay in Liberty Bonds, they would empty their purses in patriotic emulation." This was the declaration of John W. Cook, director of the War Work Campaign Fund in the Military Department of the East, for the Young Men's Christian Association.

"The boys are not only giving themselves to perpetuate democracy, but they are giving the dollars which Uncle Sam pays them for service—thus serving two ways."

The investment of army payrolls in Liberty bonds is due, in large measure, Mr. Cook says, to the Y. M. C. A. thrift campaign, started to counteract the crap-playing, spend-thrift tendency of the men. Turned loose without the restraints of home, in unusual and unnatural surroundings, homesick, many of them, and with too much free time at their disposal, anything which offers excitement is eagerly taken up, and crap shooting and more reprehensible occupations furnish the thrill.

When the second Liberty Loan campaign came, the army department and the Y. M. C. A. had worked out a cooperative plan by which the men were encouraged to put their savings into Liberty bonds. The bank account started made it easy for many of the men to invest, and as they are to be allowed to pay for the bonds on the installment plan, the prospect is that the total subscriptions of enlisted men will reach into the millions.

The army officers are using their influence to encourage all the enlisted men, as well as officers, who have money to spare, to invest it in the bonds, the two-fold purpose being to encourage the men in saving their money rather than squandering it, and to imporve the morale of the camps. Twe days have been set apart for speechmaking, with special programs designed to encourage the purchase of Liberty Bonds and the camps are as gay with Liberty Loan posters as elsewhere. The "Y" secretaries are spreading the idea at all gatherings, encouraging the soldiers to put their money to work for democracy and make surer and speedier their success on the field and the earlier their return home.

Each cantonment will have a clock to register the progress of the sale of Liberty bonds and rivalry has sprung up between regiments to see which shall lead in subscriptions, and meanwhile the crap games are languishing and lessened numbers of men seek the thirst parlors of the red light districts located as near the camps as the military regulations will allow.

Bushman and Bayne Tomorrow.

"Their Compact," featuring Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne will be seen at the Richmond theatre tomorrow.

Francis X. Bushman was born in Norfolk, Va. He received his education in Baltimore, graduating from Ammondale College. Before going on the stage he was a sculptor's model, and he has posed for some of America's heroic statues. Among his stage productions were "The Red Mill," and "At Yale." His first motion picture work was done for the Essanay company, and it was there that he became associated with Miss Bayne, his present co-star.

Miss Bayne was born in Minneapolis, Minn., and received her schooling in Chicago and in Philadelphia. The story of her life is practically the record of her pictures, for she was little more than a child when she did her first screen work.

Douglas Fairbanks Tonight.

Few motion picture people in their efforts at realism would go a three-days' journey from the Studio take a special train full of actors; engage the principal cowboys that contested in the Frontier Day Celebration in Wyoming; engage a private ranch of 160,000 acres with 30,000 head of cattle—just to have a film the real article. Yet this is what Douglas Fairbanks has done in his latest picture, at the Richmond theatre tonight entitled "The Man from Painted Post."

IN DESPERATE STRAITS.

People, Virtually Starving in Turkey, Reports American Consul.

An Atlantic Port Oct. 15.—Turkey's internal situation is desperate, declared Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, American consul at Jerusalem, on his arrival from an English port here today. Dr. Glazebrook is home on a short leave of absence. He assisted thousands of American Jews to leave Palestine, where the food and sanitary conditions are extremely sericus, he said. "All the decent food still left in Turkey," Dr. Glazebrook said, "is sent to the army. The people are virtually starving." Dr. Glazebrook said that the Turks have a strong and well equipped army of 100,000 men barring the advance of the British between Jaffa and Jerusalem.

Every occupant of an automobile seven in number, driven by Joseph J. Pohl was killed outright yesterday afternoon, when their machine was struck by a Michigan Central passenger train at Hartsig crossing, twelve miles north of Detroit.

VIRGINIA NEWS.

Tom DeShazo, a well known fisherman, of Stafford County, carried to Fredericksburg Saturday a double wagon load of as fine rockfish as have been seen in that market this year. They were caught in a net by A. B. Newton. The rock weighed from three to eight pounds each, and aggregated 1,500 pounds. Some were sold at 20 cents per pound, and the remainder shipped to Philadelphia. It was estimated that the load of fish was worth $500. These fish were caught in Potomac Creek, a tributary of the Potomac River, seven miles from Fredericksburg. In addition to the load of fish mentioned, there were some half a dozen other wagon loads of fish of various kinds caught also in Potomac Creek. Many of the latter were also shipped.

With a stab wound in his left breast, large enough to give a free view of his heart palpitating, Elijah Burley, a 22 year old negro of Quinque, Va., lived nearly an hour in Newark, N. J. Burley, with a gang of other negroes, was working on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R., and were in the commissary car at Barksdale, Md., a short distance below Newark, when Burley was stabbed. Some of the negroes say Burley fell on a knife, receiving the deadly wound, but the police say the wound was received in a fight during a crap game. Monroe Tibbs, 17 years old, accused of the stabbing, is in jail at Elkton.

Private Harry Bauman, twenty-five years of age, New York, a private in Company C, Forty-seventh New York Infantry, who was reporting for guard duty about midnight Friday night on the Island yard of the Norfolk and Western Railway when he was run down by a freight car, which was in a "flying switch" operation, after having both legs amputated, was declared to be in a fair way to survive his hurts.

Peter Lundquist, fourteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Lundquist who lives at Murfreesboro, was brought to a hospital in Suffolk Friday afternoon critically wounded. He had been hunting and passed the home of Willie Cooper, colored, a boy of his own age, who was playing with a loaded rifle. Cooper aimed the gun at Lundquist, and though the latter begged him not to shoot, shot him. The load passed through the boy's stomach. Cooper when he saw his victim fall, ran away. The condition of Lundquist is critical.

BABIES BURIED ALIVE.

Mothers Slaughtered or Allowed to Perish by Turks.

New York, Oct. 15.—Burial alive of babies in trenches with the bodies of their mothers, who had been slaughtered or allowed to perish from exposure, was practiced by the Turks in their work of exterminating the Armenians it was declared yesterday by the Rev. Henry H. Riggs, missionary of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions to Harput, Turkey, who recently came back to this country. A trench was dug beside a camp of Armenian women, he said, and as they met death the survivors were forced to drag their bodies to it and bury them. Among other things Mr. Riggs said:

"About 15 miles from Harput is a lake hidden from sight with many ravines about it. We were told that the Armenian exiles were being killed and left in these ravines. Two Americans investigated, and brought back photographs and actual facts. They saw in a 20-mile ride 10,000 human bodies, most of them killed by the bayonet. With a few exceptions they were women and children, and the mangled condition of their bodies showed the horrible fate that had been theirs."

SPY DISGUISED AS NURSE.

Map Found on Person When Captured by Secret Service Agent.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 15.—Disguised as a woman nurse, a German spy, working under the shadow of America's capital, it was learned, has been obtaining vital military secrets and maps from numerous army physicians. When apprehended by Secret Service men "she" was found to possess a complete set of maps describing mobilization plans.

Wives of the doctors, whom the supposed "nurse" treated, promise to furnish conclusive evidence of his guilt.

This "woman," who traveled along the eastern shore of Virginia, has visited five or six of the largest communities on the line of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, introducing herself to the doctors as an experienced masseuse.

"Her" efforts were interrupted two weeks ago, when, one afternoon, a Secret Service agent tapped "her" on the shoulder and made the arrest.

The man is now being held until the government agents have more thoroughly investigated his escapades.

WOULD EXTEND DRAFT AGE

Administration Also Declared Prepared to Fight to Make 19 Minimum.

Washington, Oct. 15.—Men from 18 to 40 are to be taken in draft under amendment to the present law which will be urged with all the power of the administration upon Congress immediately upon the convening of the next session.

The amendments will be introduced by Representative Julius Kahn, Republican, of California, ranking member of the House Military Committee.

Representative Kahn is the father of the present Draft Act. He is the man who despite his party alliance took charge of the bill on the floor of the House when the Democratic chairman of the Military Committee, Representative Dent, refused to have anything to do with the bill.

Behind the Kahn amendments to be introduced immediately upon the reopening of Congress, will be, it was stated today, the full support of the War Department and of the President.

FEAR LOSS OF TRADE.

New Peace Move of Germans May be Inspired by Economic Motives.

American Headquarters in France, Oct. 15.—There is an increasing fear in German business circles that the entry of the United States into the war will make it extremely difficult for Germany to regain her economic prestige after peace is declared, according to information reaching here today.

The action of a number of South American republics in severing relations with the Imperial German government, thereby shutting the doors to German trade, is believed to have inspired Germany's reported new peace move. It is believed that this new peace feeler will include an offer to make geographical concessions, in return for a promise by the allies that they will not interfere with Germany's economic development after the war.

Sensational articles dealing with the "after-war conditions" in Germany are appearing quite frequently in the German press. Several charge that an economic coalition is being formed against the German Emire under England's directions.

NEWPORT NEWS COAL FAMINE.

Chamber of Commerce Proposes Commandeering Fuel on Railroad Yards in Event of Suffering.

Newport News, Va., Oct. 15.—Drastic steps will be taken by coal dealers and business men of this city to relieve the coal famine here, if a movement launched by the Chamber of Commerce proves successful. A committee will go to Washington next week and put the matter squarely up to government officials requesting permission to commandeer coal on the railroad yards here in the event of suffering expected to accompany the next cold spell.

There now is no hard coal, little soft coal and practically no wood in the city. The fuel situation is said to be the worst in the history of Newport News.

DASHED INTO TRAIN.

Bicyclist Strikes Car and is Thrown Under Wheels and Instantly Killed.

Newark Del., Oct. 15.—Calyton Vogt, aged about 35 years, of Middletown, was killed shortly before 6 o'clock Friday afternoon while riding a motorcycle. He crashed into a train at Reybolds station, on the Delaware City and Newark branch of the Maryland division of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was riding toward home when the accident happened and is said to have been going at a fast rate.

The motorcycle struck the baggage car as the train was going over the crossing and the rider was thrown under the train and killed instantly.

TRADING RESTRICTIONS.

Enable America to Legally Employ Barrier of Such Force Against Teutons That They May Speedily Submit.

President Wilson last night issued the regulations for the enforcement of the trading with the enemy act.

They constitute the most far-reaching control of every phase of intercourse between the United States and the rest of the world.

They give legal force to every move of the United States in casting about Germany an economic barrier which will force her into submission.

Not only do the new regulations provide for cutting off trade between the United States and Germany, but they do the following:

1—Cut off trade with Germany's allies.

2—Cut off trade with those who do trade with either Germany or her allies.

3—Provide a custodian for all enemy property in the United States.

4—Requires special licenses for trade, or intercourse with any enemy or ally of an enemy within the United States.

5—Authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to investigate and supervise all foreign exchange and prevent its working to the advantage of the enemy.

6—Empower the Secretary of the Treasury to stop the taking from or into the United States of any communication other than by mail, telegraph, cable or wireless.

7—Officially creates a consorship board, consisting of representatives of the Secretaries of War and of the Navy, Postmaster General, War Trade Board and Committee on Public Information to censor mails, cable, radio or other means of communication.

8—Authorizes the Federal Trade Commission to keep secret any patents that may be developed for the interest of the United States and to provide for working in the United States under patents held by enemies or allies of the enemy.

9—Vests in the Postmaster General the authority to censor foreign language publications.

10—Charges the Secretary of State with control over the entry and egress from the United States of enemies of allies of the enemy.

11—Authorizes the Secretary of Commerce to hear appeals from refusals of customs officers to grant clearance papers to vessels.

12—Charges the Attorney General with the enforcement of the criminal sections of the trading with the enemy act.

BATTLE IN DARKNESS.

Officers and Whisky Blockaders Clash And One of Latter is Killed. Still is Destroyed.

Albemarle, N. C., Oct. 15.—As the result of a pitched battle between officers of Stanly County, near here Friday night and a gang of whisky blockaders, one man is dead, two are wounded and two are now in Stanly County jail. None of the officers was injured except one, who is suffering from powder burns. Virgil Lee Pinion is the dead man, and Will Smith, alleged to have been the leader of the gang, and a man named Howell are the two under arrest. The two men known to have been wounded made their escape, leaving trails marked by blood through the woods.

Acting on information that a gang would gather at a point about six miles north of the place, four deputy sheriffs surrounded the spot in the early evening. Shortly after a number of men gathered at the illicit distillery, and as the officers attempted to get nearer they were discovered and fire was opened upon them. The officers returned the fire, and for some time a pitched battle raged in the darkness. When the fight ceased the officers sent for reenforcements and then searched the grounds. Pinion was found dead, with several bullets in his body, Smith and Howell, who were recognized by the officers in the light of flashes from their guns, were arrested at their homes later. The two wounded men are said to be known, but have not yet been found. A large blockade still was cut to pieces.

MORALE OF GERMANS.

State Department Announces That Kaiser's Soldiers Are Dissatisfied.

German troops are "dissatisfied." That announcement of the state department, based on official reports, spelled to international authorities last week the significant fact that Germany's doom is nearer than many believed. Taken with other official and reliable reports on the internal situation within Germany, the announcement that the department had such news means that Germany is gradually but surely approaching the breaking point, and that a revolution against Hohenzollernism is not as impossible as many allied diplomats have declared it to be.

From one American diplomatic source close to the internal workings of Germany came the added news that Germany's economis strain is increasing, and that President Wilson's peace terms are slowly filtering into the minds of German folk as something altruistic rather than sinister. The mutiny aboard the German fleet takes on added significance in the face of the state department admission that its reports showed dissatisfaction with the German army. The state department also has reason to believe Chancellor Michaelis will be overthrown soon, and while this may not be immediately important such an overturn is significant in view of the militarist backing he has had.

Amsterdam, Oct. 15.—One indication of the political crisis in Germany, which may hint at retirement of Chancellor Michaelis, is furnished in remarkably frank German newspaper editorials. The Centraist organ, Germania, voiced a vigorous demand for men of the highest experience in leading positions, and urged that the ablest general be placed in supreme command of the army. The Tageblatt expressed bitter condemnation of the long recess period of the reichstag, declaring that the press cannot accept such evidence of "slacking."

SUICIDE OF MRS. STILES.

Former Society Beauty Ends Her Life With Poison in Illinois Hotel.

Mrs. Lillian Stiles was found dead in a hotel at Aurora, Ill., yesterday, having committed suicide by poison. A note she had written to a friend asked that her body be cremated and the ashes thrown into the lake.

A dozen years ago Mrs. Stiles, a society beauty and wife of a prosperous business man, eloped with Herbert Crane, millionaire. Mrs. Crane sued for a divorce and Mr. Stiles took similar action. The trials of those suits created a sensation at the time owing to the social prominence of the parties. Mrs. Stiles and Crane took up their residence at the latter's country estate.

Several years ago Mrs. Stiles quietly returned to her old home at Streator, Ill., and some time ago Mr. Crane married the daughter of a wealthy Costa Rica planter. A year ago Mrs. Stiles took up her residence with friends at Evanston. She registered at a hotel at Aurora on Saturday, and when she failed to appear yesterday morning the room was entered and the body and the note found.

SECOND MYSTERIOUS FIRE.

Half Million Dollar Store Blaze on Brooklyn Waterfront.

New York, Oct. 15.—The cause of the second destructive waterfront fire in Brooklyn that occurred yesterday is being investigated. The loss was estimated at $500,000. Several buildings of the Charles Williams stores were destroyed. There is a suspicion that the fire was of incendiary origin.

The entire Brooklyn Fire Department and several companies from lower Manhattan fought the flames for eight hours before danger of the fire spreading had ceased. A fire department lieutenant and five firemen were overcome by smoke.

It was reported in Norfolk last night that Resnati, the Italian aviator, made a night flight 150 miles to sea three nights ago with a number of passengers.

BUSINESS MEN WORRIED.

Germans Are Afraid They Will Be Threatened With Bankruptcy After The War.

American Headquarters in France, Oct. 15.—There is an increasing fear in German business circles that the entry of the United States in the war will make it extremely difficult for Germany to regain her economic prestige after peace is declared, according to information reaching here.

The action of a number of South American republics in serving relations with the imperial German government, thereby shutting their doors to German trade, is believed to have inspired Germany's reported new peace move. It is believed that this new peace feeler will include an offer to make geographical concessions, in return for a promise by the Allies that they will not interfere with Germany's economic development after the war.

Sensational articles dealing with the "after-war conditions" in Germany are appearing quite frequently in the German press.

The Arbeiter Zeitung says that the United States and Japan will draw the larger part of the world trade after peace is concluded, when there will be a serious lack off labor and capital in Germany.

The Alldeutsche Blaetter says:

"If peace be declared today many workingmen would be without employment. The factories would have to shut down because of the lack of raw materials, and being unable to import these necessities and foodstuffs, we would go straight into bankruptcy.

Several articles in the German press charge that an economic coalition is being formed against the German Empire under England's directions.

WRESTS AIR POWER

Discovery of Liberty Oxygen Makes Flying at Six Miles Possible.

Aircraft flying the Stars and Stripes may bombard Berlin from a height of six miles through the latest invention of American scientific genius.

This unheard-of height can easily be attained by the "Liberty motor," according to all experts. The only difficulty has been that in such a rarified atmosphere the aviators themselves could do nothing; the terrific demands on their lungs to keep life in them was too great to permit action by them, Airplanes have attained heights of 25,000 feet but the difficulty of breathing all but made the aviators powerless.

Now American science steps in with the twin of the Liberty motor "Liberty oxygen" is its name and it is a respiration device which automatically supplies to the flier the oxygen which is lacking in the natural air at high altitudes.

The device is the joint production of experts of the aviation section, Army Medical corps. It is hailed by the government here and by the international experts on aviation in Washington as the solution of the last problem of the air—and an assurance of superiority in the air to America and her allies for the remainder of the war.

American and allied aircraft can fly over Germany now at heights unattainable to German aviators and at their leisure can bombard and destroy military depots, arsenals and the great war industrial plants. Details of the invention are guarded with the utmost secrecy. Only the bare announcement is made of "Liberty oxygen."

NEWS OF THE DAY

Unconfirmed reports from Swedish sources say that the town of Hapsal, on the Esthonian mainland, terminus of the direct rail to Revel and Petrograd, has fallen to the German naval forces that captured the two islands dominating the Gulf of Riga. Hapsal lies 278 miles south of Petrograd, but with its occupation, German control of Riga Bay would be complete and the menace to the Gulf of Finland extreme. No naval move in the great war has so stirred the speculatory inclinations of experts as has the sudden dash of the Teuton Baltic fleet.

A large British steamer, loaded with admiralty stores, principally munitions and 6,000 barrels of oil in bulk, was towed back into an American port last night with fire in her engine room compartments under control after a 24-hour battle to keep the ship from exploding. Fire was still burning in several of the tanks last night, but it was said to be well under control and away from other combustibles. The cargo is valued at over $2,000,000 and only the quick action of the pumps is thought to have prevented an explosion. The ship is practically new.

News of the sinking of the American steamship Lewis Luckenbach by a German submarine off the coast of France was received in New York yesterday in a cable message to the shipping firm of George Luckenbach, Inc., from their French agents Forty-seven of the 56 members of the crew had been landed, the message said, but one boat with nine men was missing. The Luckenbach was bound for Havre with a general cargo. She was a steel screw vessel of 3,906 tons.

The growing difficulty of obtaining iron and steel for war purposes in Germany is indicated by an imperial regulation, just promulgated in Berlin, confiscating stocks of structural iron and steel, common tubing sheeting, cast iron and cast steel. The order prohibits the use of any of these kinds of steel or iron except by special permission. The order goes far beyond the original regulation issued last July, which applied only to certain kinds of industrial iron.
